Description of Top Accounts

OVERVIEW OF TOP ACCOUNTS

1. American Standard: Three year relationship. Designed and implemented programs for both wholesale (to contractors) and retail (to consumers). Accomplishments include:
 - o Organizing and developing a program sell-in for Amarilis faucets through wholesale. Overcame many problems with product confusion, customer dissatisfaction, poor American Standard reputation. Sell-in so successful, back ordered for two straight years.
 - o Researched and developed a new strategy for American Standard at retail including: Product line definition, positioning, packaging, merchandising, sell-in materials, and trade show booths (2). 330% increase in sales in one calendar year. Category leadership established.
 - o Successful introduction of new technology bathtub for wholesale. Complete sell-in kit for architects, builders, wholesalers. In introduction presently.
 - o Faucet Liquidation Program through wholesalers. Developed a three tier promotion to motivate sales force, wholesaler, and contractor. Beat projections, moved more faucets from old inventory in one month than were sold through all channels and styles together in four months.

Relationship ended by our hand early this year when marketing budget dried up for approximately one year due to hostile takeover bid coupled with marketing budget problems. We couldn't wait it out although the plan was to have us replace all non-media functions of the agency.

Attention: Mr. George Boesel

Dear George:

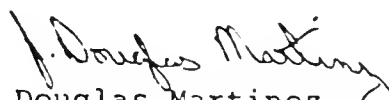

On behalf of American Standard, I would like to thank you and your staff for your efforts and dedication in making the Amarilis/Ceramix promotion a great success.

Thanks to your creativity and ingenuity, we exceeded our goals by quite a large margin, and at the same time, we reassured our sales force and our customers of our commitment to selling quality products.

This promotion was so well received that we exceeded our target on the 16 selected models by almost 30%, representing seven months of average sales; our intention was to sell 60,000 total Amarilis/Ceramix faucets -- we met this objective, which equalled four months of average sales. Overall, the promotion resulted in one of the largest total faucet sales months within the last five years.

George, you have our sincere thanks, and our congratulations to you and your staff for a job well done!

Yours truly,

Douglas Martinez

Dear George,

Just a note of appreciation for the work done by Spectrum Boston since 1985. Our sales have expanded impressively at 31%, 54%, and currently at 51% annually, largely because of your assistance.

The conceptualization and implementation of a program that included, what has proven to be, excellent packaging and attention getting colateral material, is where Spectrum Boston assisted KEEPER so substantially.

Your attention to our customers' needs and ability to distill the variety of markets we operate in is impressive and provided us with a sense of success almost before it actually began.

George, I look forward to working with Spectrum Boston on our new product line and thank you for your initiative on our behalf.

Very truly yours,

Mr. George Boesel

Dear George:

Confirming our phone conversation today, you will be glad to know that our cordset packaging has made a substantial improvement in shifting the industry from 16 gauge commodity cords to more profitable 14 gauge cords. And, the consumer reaps the benefit of having a better cord for their needs.

As you know, until we made the change in our packaging, all cords were considered the same and price was the only difference. Now, consumers are choosing to step themselves up to a heavier gauge cord to meet their needs. And, in doing so, provides better gross margin for retailers and Woods.

You'll notice I said "change the industry", which in fact we did when soon after we introduced our new packaging, the competition copied it! Thanks for helping Woods. We'll be in contact soon to start a new project.

Sincerely,

8. Sunbeam, Division of Allegheny International

Two year relationship. Working with Sunbeam research data and a preliminary prototype, we developed the complete new product introduction program.

- o Product positioning
- o Product naming
- o Product design and panel design
- o Logo
- o Packaging
- o Window decal for point of sale
- o Sell-in literature

The new oven's introduction was very successful and compared by them to the other big Sunbeam product, the Oscar. Sales are good, the other manufacturers are knocking it off. The marketing manager from Sunbeam has taken a Director of Marketing position at Wearever.

9. Price Pfister, Inc.

Six month relationship. The (ex-American Standard) Price Pfister Director of Marketing brought us in to tighten up the point-of-sale and sell-in programs prior to major push eastward.

Key points are:

- o Store audits, buyer, and internal management team interviews conducted to learn areas of opportunity.
- o SBC suggested a new line positioning strategy that has the potential to deepen sell-in.
- o Packages reworked to get down to 10 stock sizes from 40 plus.
- o Category color coding added to organize products.
- o Merchandisers reworked to aid sell-through
- o Full program brochure developed to sell-in to new customers
- o SBC to participate in sales meeting in August '88

Resell opportunities have been indicated for SBC by Price Pfister for September/October. Price Pfister has been purchased by Emhart and will introduce SBC to Emhart Management in August at sales meeting

SPECTRUM BOSTON CONSULTING

Company Philosophies and Services

Background

Changing issues and priorities in the American market have caused business and service organizations to alter the way they conduct business and present themselves to the public. Managers are interested in the market and public driven issues for the 80's and 90's. It is with this understanding that Spectrum Boston Consulting (SBC) bases its services and "client results" approach.

The Future

America is facing a new set of conditions: increased competition, new public issues, shortened new program lead times, rapid information program processing, consumer information overload, and distribution evolution. The growing group of generalist service companies will be there to help human service organizations and businesses cope. Consultants bring a wealth of theoretical and factual experience from each past job to the next task at hand. The more complex and fast-paced the world, the greater the need will be for specialist-generalists.

Strategy

Spectrum is part of a small but growing group of businesses that focus on marketing challenges from a generalist perspective--how does the assignment fit in with the client's future goals. This overview identifies resources that can be tapped, and many times, unseen opportunities. The concept is a spectrum of services that can successfully accomplish clients' objectives, driven by a generalist overview that keeps the work on target. Unlike specialists (an advertising agency sells advertising as the solution to all problems), the generalist selects the service from his arsenal that will best achieve results for his clients. We are in the business of achieving successes for our clients and in the future our services will shift as our clients' needs shift. Our goal is to be productive, effective, and bring noticeable benefit to our clients.

HARBORWALK SIGNAGE DEVELOPMENT TEAM

Spectrum Boston Consulting

Staff approach to Harborfront Signage Project

Spectrum Boston Consulting views the Harborwalk signage project as an opportunity to do more than relay basic information. We feel that this program should be developed so that the signage:

- Is engaging, interactive in its theme, and tells a complete story of the Boston Harborfront including landmarks, exhibits and historical sites of cultural significance.
- Complements existing signage in design, color, choice of materials and size.
- Will contain a variety of informational elements developed to be a cohesive system.
- Increases interest levels through a historical theme, carried through all signage, yet allowing individual elements to stand alone in their historical message.
- Will be interactive on many levels, depending on the individual needs of its audience.
- System that is approached by our team includes input from architectural and engineering consultants, affording us the technical support necessary for implementation of complete signage programs.
